Become Expert Accountant by Problem Method

It is no longer necessary to spend 3 to 4 years in class rooms at great in-convenience and expense to learn acounting.
The Problem Method, developed by The Problem Method, developed by nationally recognized practicing certified public accountants and business experts at a cost of approximately a quarter of a million dollars brings to you the actual problems of accounting, cost accounting, auditing, income tax or public accounting, business law and organisation as used in the foremost business institutions. Requires but a few hours a week of your spare time at home for a short period. Our work has the indersement of the public accounting profession and the captains of industry—like J. Ogden Armour, E. P. H. Sieberling, president Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, and hundreds of others. Charles M. Schwab says: "The captains of industry are not seeking money, but brains—specialized brains." The Problem Method has been the means of adding from 100 to 400 per cent to the earning capacity of many Memphians now engaged in public accounting or highly remunerative executive positions.
